

SAFE QUALITY FOOD (SQF) CODE CERTIFICATION

GLOBAL STANDARD FOR FOOD SAFETY

SQF Code is an internationally recognised protocol for the food industry aimed at assisting in product failure avoidance.

Our services

Each SQF audit is broken down into two stages, the first consisting of the document review and the second a facility information. With two different stages, you are easily able to take a preventative approach to food safety. Using this unique auditing approach, the auditor utilizes an interviewing technique spending at least 70% of their on-site time on the manufacturing floor.

Like the previous code, it is still divided into 3 levels, with levels 2 and 3 being GFSI certified.

- Level 1: An entry level audit covering GMP, GDP, GAP, and basic food safety elements.
- Level 2: HACCP and ISO based food safety programme
- Level 3: Incorporates all Level 1 and Level 2 system elements with an additional risk analysis implemented for food quality. Upon completion of the SQF Level 3 Audit, you are granted permission to use the SQF quality shield on your products and marketing material

With two different stages, you are easily able to take a preventative approach to food safety. Using this unique auditing approach, the auditor utilises an interviewing technique spending at least 70% of their on-site time in the plant.

Upon completion of the SQF Level 3 Audit, you are granted permission to use the SQF quality shield on your products and marketing material. In addition, during the audit you will have access to the SQF online database providing you with knowledge on your audit progress.

Benefiting you

Each part of the food chain, from producers to distributors, affects food safety. The SQF audit links each step with scopes for primary production, manufacturing, distribution, packaging, and wholesaling.

- Worldwide recognised certification programme
- Demonstration of your diligence in food safety
- Food chain validation
- Symbol of your consumer care
- Installs buyer confidence in food quality and safety
- Reduce time and cost of multiple audits
- Pro-actively improves processes saving you valuable time and resources

SQF is the only scheme that offers certification "from farm to fork".

With you all the way

By becoming SQF-certified, your company will be registered in a database used by many retailers worldwide in determining prominent corporations or clients to conduct future business with.
